At a meeting of the committee on the entertainment of the visitors, held in the rooms of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, yesterday, announcement who told the conductor that he desired was made that a letter from Overer to get off at Lexington. Captain

Dr. C. W. Richardson presided at the meeting and Dr. L. W. Glazebrook was chosen vice chairman. Considerably more than half the members of the committee, which numbers over thirty, were present. A resolution was passed to have a corps of guides stationed about the city by the committee to escort the visitors to various points of interest, and to act as information bureaus for the strangers. It was also decled to have a special committee arrange with the respective departments to nave these appoint guides to show delegates about the buildings when they visit them. Excursions will also be conducted to the interesting points about Washington each day the convention is in session.

The meeting of the committee was the only one which is to be held until next September. Dr. Richardson announced that over 2,000 people had already been registered as members of the congress, and that these included 750 foreign delegates. On the opening day of the congress a public reception will be tendered the members at the Corcoran Gallery of Art by the residents of this city. Another day, it is understood, the members will be guests at a lawn party to be given by Mrs. John R. McLean at her country home, Friendship.

Other important details for the entertainment of the visitors were arranged, but because of their technical nature these will not be announced until a later date. The funds which the local committee will use will be raised by the finance committee by popular subscription.

DISPLAYS NERVE | MURDER SUSPECT ELUDES DRAGNET

Supposed Slayer of Aunt Sought by Police of Many Cities.

NEW YORK, July 22.-Police of all the cities between here and Chicago were asked today by the New York authorities to keep a lookout for August Eberhardt, wanted in connection with the killing of his aunt, Mrs. Ottilie Eberhardt, near Coalburg, N. J.

It is believed that young Eberhardt poarded a west-bound train at Paterson following the tragedy in which $2,450 was taken from Mrs. Eberhardt's dead body, and that he is seeking safety in the West.

Mrs. Eberhardt's daughter, who was thrice wounded, is recovering. Her baggage is to be searched in an effort obtain a clue to Gus Eberhardt's whereabouts.

Strong Clue Found.

A clue which may lead to an early arrest of the murderer of Mrs. Eberhard reached the authorities of Bergen county, N. J., last night. They maintained a strict secrecy as to the information they had received.

"I cannot discuss what has come to our knowledge," said Public Prosecutor Koester. "I believe it to be most important, but for the sake of justice I must refrain from discussing it.

The search for August Eberhardt went

The search for August Eberhardt went forward yesterday in New York and New Jersey. Detectives from Hackensack were in Dutchess county and a watch was kept on the farm of Eberhard's parents at Moore's Mills.

The Hackensack police were much interested in the afternoon in the reappearance of Freda Eberhardt at 51 Manhattan street. She disappeared from there on Monday after leaving a note for her brother George, which indicated that she intended to commit suicide. This sister of the missing August told a weird tale of having wandered in a swamp in New Jersey. Detectives saw her and interrogated her sharply.

Theory About Freda.

Theory About Freda. It was believed that perhaps the disappearance of Freda and her sudden return might have bearing on the clue on which the authorities were working last night, but when Prosecutor Koester was asked if this was so he would neither deny nor affirm it. Chief of Police Dunn, of Hackensack, spent most of yesterday in New York, and in the course of his investigation strengthened as evidence a most significant discovery which he made on Monday. The chief found in the room in the Adelphi Hotel, at Tenth avenue and Twenty-third street, which was occupied by the murdered widow and her ceding the killing, two eight-foot lengths of gas tubing.

propellers are cast in one piece of manganese bronze. They are arranged at a slightly different pitch from the three-bladed propellers.

After the big fellows go into dry dock the semi-weekly service of the Cunard line will be discontinued for the remainder of the year, and only the weekly service is resumed next spring, or by January 1 next, it is intimated that the Cunard protected ladies of the stage.

McCoy, as head of the hoeing committee, thinks the rest ought to be pulled together in a week or ten days easily, and that from that on the whole plan is pie.

But even Mrss McCoy conceded yesterday that Frau Minnie Brennan is place. Wehman, the grover, at 182d street and St. Nicholas place.
